

POSTGRADUATE MEDICAL JOURNAL

Postgraduate Medical Journal (PGMJ) is committed to the professional development of clinicians and includes both commissioned and peer-reviewed material of an excellent standard.

Advancing Postgraduates, Enhancing Healthcare

Postgraduate Medical Journal aims to help doctors to acquire the necessary skills to enable them to deliver the highest possible standards of patient care, to help the trainers to develop suitable training programmes for their trainees, and finally, once that training is completed, to allow these doctors to maintain those high standards by a process of continuing medical education.

Each issue of the Postgraduate Medical Journal includes commissioned editorials, original papers, review articles, case reports and self-assessment questions.

Great online features and functionality

The Postgraduate Medical Journal website contains all the content from the print version as well as valuable online features that take advantage of the latest technology.

Find content quickly – Sophisticated searching, subject collections, email alerting, RSS feeds and full text links from cited references are all available on the site.

Interactive services – Personal folders, citation trackers, electronic letters, education and more.

Online submission and peer review – Our simple and secure online submission service provides a faster peer review process and 24 hour access to information on your paper's status.

Find out more – Our 'click guide' details all the outstanding features of the Postgraduate Medical Journal website. Download a copy from the journal homepage.

See your work published in Postgraduate Medical Journal

- Impact Factor: 0.807
- Rapid decisions
- Rapid publication
- Worldwide Readership
- Online submission and peer review

Click the 'Online Submissions' button on the Postgraduate Medical Journal homepage to submit a paper.